Awakening the Spirit of Unity & Leadership

We spend a lot of time, money, energy, and resources on celebrating our festivals and maintaining our culture and but we generally, do not pay attention to the real-life super-heroes who sacrificed their lives to preserve our culture, our customs, our values, and our way of life. The superheroes are kind of forgotten. The local schools will teach Indian American children the stories of Alexander the Great, Napoleon Bonaparte, and other western leaders. No one will tell them the inspirational stories of our Indian superheroes. As a result, our next generation might not think highly about their roots. If we take lead in telling our children the stories of our heroes, it will elevate their respect for Indian heritage, and will provide them with a great example of "standing up for your own rights and living a fearless life!"

Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj united India in very adverse conditions to form Hindavi Swarajya, a People's Kingdom (Of the People For the People). Over 350

Prithviraj Chauhan Maharana Pratap Raja Krishnadevaraya Chh. Shivaji Maharaj Maharaja Ranjit Singh Rani Laxmibai

years ago, he established a society where there was LIBERTY, EQUALITY, and JUSTICE FOR ALL (men, women, races, religions) The only thing that mattered was "Individual Merit"! Other Indian National heroes Maharana Pratap, Rani Laxmibai, Prithviraj Chauhan, Maharaja Ranjit Singh, Raja Krishnadevaraya, and others have played a similar role to protect our heritage during their times.
